Brazil, Portugal promise fans a feast of skill

GROUP G PREVIEW

Portugal vs. Brazil

Even without one of world soccer's biggest stars, Portugal's World Cup clash with Brazil promises a feast of skilful, attacking soccer as both teams seek to win and avoid a possible round of 16 clash with Spain.

"It is going to be a very good game for us and for all football lovers and fans," Brazil coach Dunga said Thursday.

Not surprisingly, given the pedigree of both teams and their close cultural and historical ties, the match between Brazil and Portugal was one of the first World Cup matches to sell out. Brazil is ranked No. 1 in the world and Portugal is No. 3.

"The world's attention has been focused on this game, taking into account the quality of players both teams have," Portugal coach Carlos Queiroz said. "It's all about beautiful football, the quality of the game and creativity of our players."

The lustre was taken off slightly when midfielder Kaka was sent off in the 88th minute of Brazil's 3-1 win over Ivory Coast, meaning he will be banned from a showdown against Real Madrid teammate Cristiano Ronaldo in Durban.

12 Brazil has won 12 of the 18 games between the two countries but they have met just once at a World Cup, in 1966 when a Portugal team led by Eusebio beat Brazil.

Portugal midfielder Tiago said Brazil would not have a problem filling Kaka's boots.

"Brazil has a very strong squad," Tiago said. "They have other players who can step into that position."

NATUR-A: A BEVERAGE MADE FOR CHAMPIONS

When playing a sport we all focus on the importance of our training. But have you also considered how to feed and replenish your body's strength?

Follow the example of the champion Clara Hughes, who has been drinking soymilk for several years and still, at the age of 37, competes with athletes in their twenties!

To be well prepared or to recover after a workout, what could be better than Natur-a, one of the most popular soy beverages in Canada? Soymilk is in fact a great source of energy for the body, containing protein, essential vitamins, minerals and calcium in every glass. Free from cholesterol and preservatives, the Natur-a's soymilk recipe has been proving it's worth since 1993!

Produced locally in Sainte-Hyacinthe and certified organic, Natur-a soymilk has no artificial ingredients and is also dairy-free. Being the only vegetable that is a complete protein, the soy bean is a great source of nutrition for athletes and a perfect one for vegetarians, vegans, and lactose-intolerant folks who still want to exercise and be athletic!

Available in a variety of flavors including unsweetened, original, vanilla, chocolate, and strawberry, Natur-a soymilk products all contain less sugar than milk, and that even includes the chocolate! So those with a sweet tooth can take pleasure in their glass of soy milk all the while staying healthy!

Low in fat, Natur-a is a perfect drink for world class athletes, many of whom, like Clara Hughes, drink it regularly. Every glass of Natur-a soymilk contains 45% of the recommended daily portion of vitamin D as well as 30% of your recommended daily calcium intake.

Since 2007, Health Canada has also recognized the benefits of soymilk, recommending that Canadians drink 2 to 4 glasses of soymilk per day. As rich as milk in essential nutrients this recommendation satisfies our daily calcium needs and helps maintain a balanced diet.

Nutrisoya's healthy focus meets its community commitment by yearly providing thousands of free portions of Natur-a soymilk to youth athletes playing soccer, hockey, ringette and cycling.

How can you use soymilk?

Everywhere you would use milk! Simply use the same proportions and replace with soymilk; it works great in cakes, soups, crepes, sauces, puddings, muffins, and anywhere else you can think of! And of course you can always have a tall glass of soymilk every morning or after every workout!

Follow the advice and recipes of champion Clara Hughes on Nutrisoya's website at www.nutrisoya.com or www.naturaplus.ca.

One serving of Natur-a chocolate soymilk contains only 15 grams of sugar compared to 29 grams in a glass of regular chocolate milk, in other words that is 14 fewer grams of sugar in every glass!
